NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 19 .- The apartments of Sir Julian Pauncefote at the Carey cottage were visited by an Associated Press reporter this morning to ascertain something regarding Sir Julian's views upon the Bering sea question. The minister was unwilling to meet an interviewer and his secretary was requested to show him the Washington dis-patch of yesterday on the matter, which he did, and he returned saying that Sir Julian had heard nothing from the authorities at Washington relative thereto.
Upon being further pressed for his views he said that he was very unwilling to talk on the subject and finally positively refused to do so.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 19 .- The governor of Chihushue and many prominent men from Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and all over Texas came here to see the rain experiments yesterday. The day was made a sort of general holiday. The active work of sky bombardment was begun early in the morning and continued until late in the after-noon. At about 5 o'clock the sky along the castern horizon began to pile high with cloude, and by 6 o'clock lightning was playing all around the horizon and far away rain could be seen coming down in several places, but not a drop fell here. At 9 p.m., however, it looked as if it would rain before morning. The barometer, which early in the morning registered ex-Sir Julian Pauncefote Refuses to ceedingly high, was then slowly but surely

"I was present during Melbourn's experiments recently at Cheyenne," said he, "and the results were certainly start-ing. Ex-Gov. Baxter of Wyoming, Perry Oregon, a large ranch owner, and Presi-dent Malchrist of the Melrose National Bank were also present during the performance of the Obio man. They were skeptical when they came on the ground, in the Cheyenne suburbs, from where the rain producer was to carry on his communication with the clouds. The experiments were made clouds. The experiments were made from the loft of a barn out on an open space 400 yards from a farm house. There was a hearty laugh from the people when Melbourn came out of the barn attired in nothing but a pair of trousers and a flannel shirt, and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, we will have a shower at 12 o'clock. This was at 9 o'clock, and he added: 'You will not laugh so hard at noon.

You will be wishing for umbrellas about that "Melbourn then disappeared inside the barn and opened a little trap door he had tempo-rarily arranged in the roof. The crowd looked at the clear sky and pronounced Mel-bourn a fraud. At 10:45 there was not a cloud visible, and the indications for rain were as far off as ever. The weather bureau for that district had predicted continued fair weather. Slowly, about 11 o'clock, the clouds began to creep up over the horizon. They came from both the east and west and met directly above us. At 12 o'clock it began to drizzle and at 12:30 the rain was coming down steadily. The rain was general around Cheyenne.

"At 2 o'clock or fifteen minutes before that hour the rain had ceased, the clouds had dis-appeared and the sun was shining as brightly as it was at 9 o'clock.

"Melbourn came out. His face was flushed and the clothing on him was wringing wet with perspiration. He said to ex-Gov. Baxter: 'Govrnor, I will give you another shower at 3 perspiration.

"Melbourn disappeared and soon after 3 o'clock the clouds put in an appearance the same as before and the rain began to fall. It came down quite hard and at 4 o'clock, when it reased, there were mud and little pools of water in every direction. At 4:30 the sky was again as clear as ever and for the second time Melbourn put in an appearance and said: 'The next shower will be at 6 o'clock.'

"For heaven's sake call him off, or he will drown us out, said a man who had witnessed the remarkable performances of the Ohio man. "Governor Baxter did 'call him off.' He informed Mr. Melbourn that he and his associ tes were thoroughly satisfied with the experi-

"With so many elements in favor of the New "With so many elements in favor of the New York market and so few, or virtually none, against it, it must be admitted that the prospect of making any adverse impression on current prices is not very encouraging to the bears and those who may be temporarily working in line with them; and it would not be surprising should those who are waiting for a downward turn in prices have to wait until some further advance has been made. some further advance has been made. But it is doubtful whether at the moment this probability is clear enough to warrant buying. A noteworthy feature of the market is its broadening character, stocks which have been long negleted now springing into activity. In part this is due to the development of the speculative spirit and in part to the improved financial condition of the various roads. The trunk lines are all reporting large gains in earnings, and this explains the rise in the Vander-bilts and connecting properties, which has been one of the healthiest features of the market. one of the healthiest features of the market. The movement in Atchison also had its The movement in Atenson and Journal of the movement in increased carnings.

Reading the sudden activity was due to disbanding of the pool, which locked up some 400.000 shares and so discouraged all speculative dealings. An advance in coal, and the approach of a more active demand for the arti-cle, also stiffened the coal properties. Several of the specialties, such as Chesapeake and Ohio, Ontario and Western and Kansus and Texas, companied by a strong wind, and prairie fires are growing more active, all of which indicates broade; and active market during the fall months.

THE WASHINGTON HIGH SCHOOL Over 1,800 Pupils Expected-The Corps of

The Washington High School will contain in the neighborhood of 1,850 pupils, as against dencies of parents to send their children to the excellent institution that has grown up. The Central School, on O street, will hold 1,090, the was interviewed on the subject of immigration | Capitol Hill school, 310; the Georgetown branch, 125, and the business school, 325. Two A thousand is all that can properly be accommodated, and the extra ninety this year may cause some little embarrassment. Beside the departure from the school of the assistant principal, Miss Lathe, there will be a vacancy in the principal's office, Mr. Fred Fishback, his clerk, having resigned to accept a position in the offices of the West Virginia Central and Pittsburg railroad in Baltimore.

The building for the Capitol Hill school is now well under way, but it is not expected that it will be finished before March. This building will afford all the room that can be taken by the will afford all the room that can be taken by the school for some years, and is admirably adapted to the purposes of the school. It is planned upon the Central High School, and is in a minor degree a reproduction of that structure, which has been found to be well nigh perfect, as far as school purposes are concerned. In the new will be better laboratory accomodations and a larger and better drill room. THE COURSE OF STUDY.

There are to be few changes in the course of study for the school. The study of logic, which formerly formed an alternative in the third year with mathematics, will be dropped, study of the advanced branches of pure English literature, affording a high course of training in the art of expression. Greek, which was reintroduced last year for a small class of boys who wanted to enter college, will be continued on a more general basis, and will be studied in both the second and third years. There will be more manual training given in the third year and the work will be pushed upward so as to give the students a better view of the higher principles of metal working and the more advanced mechanics. The course of the cooking schools will also be improved by the introduction of new lines of special study and the application of better apparatus.

The teachers of the school return to their work refreshed by the summer vacations and are ready to go on with the new year more vigorously than ever. Five of them took European trips this summer. One of them had trouble with her ticket for return passage and has encountered the abominations of the foreign system of "bookings." As a result she is now detained on the other side waiting for a chance to get a passage, and it may be some chance to get a passage, and it may be some chance to get a passage, and it may be some chance to get a passage, and it may be some than the employ of W.H.Tenney & Son in George that miners from Kentucky are preparing to attack and release convicts in the branch in the employ of W.H.Tenney & Son in George that miners from Kentucky are preparing to attack and release convicts in the branch prisons at Briceville and Coal Creek, Tenn.
